The Handbook of Linguistic Human Rights - Tove Skutnabb-Kangas 2022-11-14

A groundbreaking new work that sheds light on case studies of linguistic human rights around the world, raising much-needed awareness of the struggles of many peoples and communities. The first book of its kind, the Handbook of Linguistic Human Rights presents a diverse range of theoretically grounded studies of linguistic human rights, exemplifying what linguistic justice is and how it might be achieved. Through explorations of ways in which linguistic human rights are understood in both national and international contexts, this innovative volume demonstrates how linguistic human rights are supported or violated on all continents, with a particular focus on the marginalized languages of minorities and Indigenous peoples, in industrialized countries and the Global South. Organized into five parts, this volume first presents approaches to linguistic human rights in international and national law, political theory, sociology, economics, history, education, and critical theory. Subsequent sections address how international standards are promoted or impeded and cross-cutting issues, including translation and interpreting, endangered languages and the internet, the impact of global

English, language testing, disaster situations, historical amnesia, and more. This essential reference work: Explores approaches to linguistic human rights in countries of great demographic diversity and conflict Covers cases of linguistic human rights in the Americas, China, Europe, North Africa, India, Nepal and New Zealand, including international minorities, such as the Kurds and the Roma, and the Deaf worldwide. Illustrates how education worldwide has often blocked off minority languages by not offering mother-tongue medium education Presents and assesses conventions, declarations, and recommendations that recognize the rights of Indigenous peoples and minorities. Includes a selection of short texts that present additional existential evidence of linguistic human rights. Edited by two renowned leaders in the field, the Handbook of Linguistic Human Rights is an ideal resource for undergraduate and graduate students of language and law, sociolinguistics, applied linguistics, language policy, language education, indigenous studies, language rights, human rights, and globalization.

Satisfying Zambian Hunger for Culture -

Mwizenge S. Tembo 2012-09-17

The Southern African country of Zambia with 72 tribes has experienced tremendous social turmoil during the last 48 years. The 13 million citizens migrated into the cities and professionals immigrated and scattered abroad in a growing Diaspora. The diversity of the Zambian society and globalization has created a cultural crisis. "Satisfying Zambian Hunger for Culture" discusses social and political history, gender rites of passage, food, religion, witchcraft, and recommendations for contemporary life in the 21st century. The 17 chapter book puts the diverse Zambian African tribal customs, culture and technology into the modern digital age.

Private Secondary Schools - Peterson's 2011-05-01

Peterson's Private Secondary Schools is everything parents need to find the right private secondary school for their child. This valuable resource allows students and parents to compare and select from more than 1,500 schools in the U.S. and Canada, and around the world. Schools featured include independent day schools, special needs schools, and boarding schools (including junior boarding schools for middle-school students). Helpful information listed for each of these schools include: school's area of specialization, setting, affiliation, accreditation, tuition, financial aid, student body, faculty, academic programs, social life, admission information, contacts, and more. Also includes helpful articles on the merits of private education, planning a successful school search, searching for private schools online, finding the perfect match, paying for a private education, tips for taking the necessary standardized tests, semester programs and understanding the private schools' admission application form and process.

Making Citizens in Africa - Lahra Smith 2013-05-20

Smith argues that citizenship creation and expansion is a pivotal part of political contestation in Africa today. Citizenship is a powerful analytical tool to approach political life in contemporary Africa because the institutional and structural reforms of the past two decades have been inextricably linked with the battle over the 'right to have rights'. Professor Lahra Smith's work advances the notion of meaningful citizenship, referring to the ways in which rights are exercised, or the effective practice of citizenship. Using data from Ethiopia and developing a historically informed study of language policy, ethnicity and gender identities, Smith analyzes the contestation over citizenship that engages the state, social movements and individuals in substantive ways. By combining original data on language policy in contemporary Ethiopia with detailed historical study and a focus on ethnicity, citizenship and gender, this work brings a fresh approach to Ethiopian political development and contemporary citizenship concerns across Africa.

Learning to Live Together in Africa through History Education - Denise Bentrovato
2017-11-13

This study sheds light on the current state of history education in Africa and reflects on its potential to prepare this continent's learners for the challenges of "learning to live together". Drawing on an examination of school curricula and the experiences of educational stakeholders, it identifies trends in the processes and outcomes of recent curricular revisions, and discerns key challenges relating to the teaching and learning of history across Africa. It scrutinises the place afforded to history within African education systems, and surveys related contents and pedagogies. While it identifies African history as a fundamental yet sensitive and controversial subject, it also illustrates examples of present-day curricular strategies to integrating a concern for promoting a "culture of peace".

Protein Actions: Principles and Modeling - Ivet Bahar
2017-02-14

Protein Actions: Principles and Modeling is aimed at graduates, advanced undergraduates, and any professional who seeks an introduction to the biological, chemical, and physical properties of proteins. Broadly accessible to biophysicists and biochemists, it will be particularly useful to student and professional structural biologists and molecular biophysicists, bioinformaticians and computational biologists, biological chemists (particularly drug designers) and molecular bioengineers. The book begins by introducing the basic principles of protein structure and function. Some readers will be familiar with aspects of this, but the authors build up a more quantitative approach than their competitors. Emphasizing concepts and theory rather than experimental techniques, the book shows how proteins can be analyzed using the disciplines of elementary statistical mechanics, energetics, and kinetics. These chapters illuminate how proteins attain biologically active states and the properties of those states. The book ends with a synopsis the roles of computational biology and bioinformatics in protein science.

Secondary Education in Ethiopia - Rajendra Joshi
2012-11-01

This book discusses reforms that should be undertaken in secondary education to support Ethiopia's transition from a low- to middle-income economy. The most critical reform identified is the introduction of a flexible curriculum that serves the needs of all students, including those who may not pursue higher education.

On Results of the Reform in Ethiopia's Language and Education Policies - Catherine Griefenow-Mewis 2009

This publication reflects the results of the Ethiopian education reform as well as the exceptional efforts that multiethnic Ethiopia undertakes in order to cope with the challenges arising from the population explosion. More than 55 per cent of the 77 million Ethiopians are under the age of 18 years. The great social and political changes started in Ethiopia at the beginning of the 1990s have resulted in the substitution of the educational system based on Amharic and English by one which uses a multilingual approach. According to the Ministry of Education 22 out of the 84 languages spoken in Ethiopia are now used as media of instruction in primary schools. The book presents the lectures delivered at the workshop "On the Results of the Reform in Ethiopia's Language and Education Policy" held at Addis Ababa University in April 2006 by Ethiopian education experts and a German research team. Their contribution has facilitated a subsumption into the historical context and has given insight into the analyses of the use of 8 Ethiopian languages in primary schools in different regions of the country.

(Re)Constructing Memory: School Textbooks and the Imagination of the Nation - James H.

Williams 2014-08-08

This book examines the shifting portrayal of the nation in school textbooks in 14 countries during periods of rapid political, social, and economic change. Drawing on a range of analytic strategies, the authors examine history and civics textbooks, and the teaching of such texts, along with other prominent curricular materials—children's readers, a required text penned by the head of state, a holocaust curriculum, etc.. The authors analyze the uses of history and pedagogy in building, reinforcing and/or redefining the nation and state especially in the light of challenges to its legitimacy. The primary focus is on countries in developing or transitional contexts. Issues include the teaching of democratic civics in a multiethnic state with little history of democratic governance; shifts in teaching about the Khmer Rouge in post-conflict Cambodia; children's readers used to define national space in former republics of the Soviet Union; the development of Holocaust education in a context where citizens were both victims and perpetrators of violence; the creation of a national past in Turkmenistan; and so forth. The case studies are supplemented by commentary, an introduction and conclusion.

Memorie di una principessa etiopica - Martha Nasibù 2015-04-15T00:00:00+02:00

Agli inizi degli anni Trenta del secolo scorso il ghebù, il palazzo del nobile Nasibù Zamanuel, svetta sontuoso nel centro di Addis Abeba. Circondato da un parco di cinquantamila metri quadrati, con alberi di alto fusto e piante ornamentali fatte giungere da ogni parte del mondo, il ghebù è composto da un'infinità di camere elegantemente arredate con mobili in stile Luigi XVI e Chippendale, porcellane di

Sèvres, immensi arazzi di Beauvais. Ottanta tra maggiordomi, domestici, cuochi e giardinieri provvedono alla cura della casa, sotto lo sguardo vigile del degiac Nasibù, bello come un dio con i suoi 185 centimetri di statura, il fisico da atleta, il volto attraente e sereno, le sgargianti divise da generale. Nella vita del degiac tutto sembra tingersi di prodigioso e fiabesco: da come ha impalmato la giovanissima Atzede Mariam Babitcheff dopo una gara sfrenata nell'ippodromo di Janehoymeda alla presenza del reggente, ras Tafari Makonnen, a come l'ha condotta in pellegrinaggio in cima al monte Managhescià, dove il santo eremita abba Wolde Mariam ha predetto alla sposa la nascita di ben cinque figli. Un giorno di ottobre del 1935, tuttavia, la bella fiaba termina bruscamente. Per ordine di Benito Mussolini, le forze armate italiane invadono l'Etiopia da nord al sud, senza alcuna dichiarazione di guerra. Il degiac Nasibù combatte valorosamente per difendere la sua civiltà, quell'antica civiltà copto-ortodossa che fa dell'Etiopia una terra cristiana nel cuore dell'Africa. Le forze sono però troppo impari, e il conflitto segna la fine dell'impero etiopico e dello splendore dei Nasibù. Il 21 giugno del 1936 Ivan Babitcheff, suocero di Nasibù, viene arrestato. Il 19 ottobre, il degiac si spegne in una clinica di Davos. Nei mesi successivi tutti i Nasibù sono costretti all'esilio. A più di sessant'anni dagli avvenimenti, Martha Nasibù, figlia del degiac, racconta l'incredibile vicenda della sua famiglia esiliata in Italia sul finire del 1936 e tenuta al confino sino all'agosto del 1944. Otto anni di esilio nei luoghi di «villeggiatura» di Mussolini. Otto anni di esilio per la sola colpa di essere moglie e figli del degiac Nasibù Zamanuel, che si era comportato in guerra con estrema correttezza, non certo ricambiata dal viceré Rodolfo Graziani. Preziosa testimonianza storica, il libro illumina il mondo dell'aristocrazia etiopica «in bilico fra le suggestive eredità del feudalesimo e le forti aspirazioni alla modernità» (Angelo Del Boca). «Un libro meraviglioso che ha il grande pregio di condurci in un mondo del tutto sconosciuto a noi occidentali, quello complesso dell'aristocrazia etiopica degli anni Venti e Trenta». Angelo Del Boca «La principessa e i carnefici... Una cronaca in presa diretta di avvenimenti storici avvolti in un dramma». Nello Ajello, La Repubblica «Un libro bellissimo della figlia di uno dei grandi dignitari dell'imperatore d'Etiopia». Giorgio Boatti, La Stampa «L'Etiopia aristocratica del primo Novecento sopraffatta dalla feroce colonizzazione fascista». Il Messaggero «Suo padre era un nobile partigiano che si era battuto contro l'invasione fascista dell'Etiopia... lo racconta Martha Nasibù nel suo bel romanzo autobiografico». La Nazione «Martha Nasibù è una delle tante scrittrici africane che, negli ultimi anni, si sono date il compito di ricostruire un passato nutrito di storia orale, mettendo su carta quella parte di storia che non compare nei libri ufficiali. Lo ha fatto in maniera suggestiva, poetica e insieme puntuale». Left

Language in Ethiopia - Marvin Lionel Bender 1976

This comprehensive study is the result of research by an interdisciplinary team of international scholars, all with a particular interest in Ethiopia. The first part of the book contains an important classification of Ethiopian languages, looks at their distribution and studies some special language situations. The second part describes the official status of languages, the effects of migrations, urbanization and education, and discusses the spread of Amharic and patterns of bilingualism. The third part analyses in detail the organization of language teaching and teacher training in Ethiopia.

Paradigms, Challenges and Prospects of History Education in Ethiopia Since the Early 20th Century - Ageru Shume 2022-04-06
Forschungsarbeit aus dem Jahr 2022 im Fachbereich Didaktik - Geschichte, Note: 12+1, Bahir Dar University (Bahir Dar university), Veranstaltung: History, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: The purpose of this paper is to analyze the paradigms, challenges, and prospects of history education in Ethiopia since the early 20th century. The reason why I chose the early 20th century is that it was the landmark for launching modern education in Ethiopia in general and history education in particular. To construct this paper from a historical point of view, I rigorously examined the scholarly research books, journals, articles, theses, and other significant historical materials from a historical point of view. Therefore, I attempted to clarify, the evolution of history education in Ethiopia, the paradigm shifts that history has undergone through the passage of time, and the major challenges and prospects of history education in Ethiopia in the past three regimes.

Oromay - Bealu Girma 2021-03

This is the first complete English translation of Bealu Girma's classic. Originally published in 1983 in Ethiopia, the novel served as a critical account of the Red Star Campaign, the Communist Derg government's attempt at a final comprehensive victory over the secessionist rebellion in Eritrea. A passionate and turbulent story of love and war, Oromay mocked high-level members of Ethiopia's communist regime and criticized the Derg's actions in Eritrea. The criticism contained in this incisive political allegory put Bealu in considerable danger owing to the repressive environment in which it was published. The novel was almost immediately banned after publication. Government officials attempted to confiscate all available copies but bootleg versions continued to circulate. In the aftermath, Bealu was fired from his job in Ethiopia's Ministry of Information and a few months later disappeared. It is generally believed that he was abducted and killed on the orders of government officials in retaliation for Oromay. Bealu's life had a dramatic arc of its own. Born in rural Ethiopia to an Ethiopian mother and Indian father, he was a graduate of Addis Ababa University and later studied journalism in the United States. In addition to serving as editor of several of Ethiopia's most respected magazines and newspapers (including Addis Zemen and The Ethiopian Herald) he also worked as a civil servant in Ethiopia's Ministry of Information. This position allowed him access to government officials during both the Imperial and Communist governments. Prior to Oromay, he wrote five other popular and critically-acclaimed Amharic-language novels: Beyond the Horizon, The Bell of Conscience, The Call of the Red Star, Haddis, and The Author. His integrity as a journalist, courageous criticism of repressive regimes, and martyrdom to the cause of literary freedom make him a significant figure in modern Ethiopian history and Amharic literature.
