Verkehrserziehung durch
Edutainment - Simone

Vogelsberg 2008

Computer sind heute ein selbstverständlicher Teil der kindlichen Lebenswelt. In den letzten Jahren sind für den umkämpften Markt der unterhaltsamen Computer-Software zunehmend Produkte entwickelt worden, die den Anspruch haben, sowohl unterhaltsam als auch lehrreich zu sein. Die Kennzeichnung Edutainment soll Eltern, Erzieher und Lehrer zum Kauf motivieren. Auch für die vorschulische Verkehrserziehung sind derartige Computerprogramme erhältlich. Bevor diese Programme jedoch Einsatz im Rahmen der institutionellen

oder privaten

Sicherheitserziehung von Kindern finden sollten, ist zu überprüfen, ob sie tatsächlich zu einer erhöhten Sicherheit im Strassenverkehr beitragen können. Dieser Band widmet sich der Beantwortung der Frage, ob ausgewählte Edutainment-Software Kindern im Vorschulalter Kenntnisse über den Strassenverkehr vermitteln kann. Ziel eines solchen Programms muss es sein, Wissen um die Geschehnisse und die Regeln im Strassenverkehr aufzubauen, das Bewusstsein für Gefahren zu erhöhen und das kindliche Verhalten im Verkehrsgeschehen langfristig positiv zu verändern. Es wird untersucht, inwiefern inhaltliche und medienspezifische Vorkenntnisse der Kinder, das kognitive Leistungsniveau und motivationale Faktoren für einen Kompetenzzuwachs in den genannten Bereichen mitverantwortlich sind.

Ambulatory Assessment -

Jochen Fahrenberg 1996

This is the first book to appear on the topic of Ambulatory Assessment, a new approach to behavioral and psychophysiological assessment. The ambulatory assessment approach is based on "naturalistic" observations and measurements made during everyday life, and has high ecological validity. This also means that ambulatory assessment techniques are ideally suited for practical application in a wide range of fields. Individual differences in behavior and physiology, as well as behavior disorders, can be investigated in real-life situations, where the relevant behavior can be studied much more effectively than in the artificial environment of the laboratory. In this book, an international group of researchers provide a comprehensive overview of ambulatory assessment. The most recently developed methodologies are examined. Their use is then illustrated with numerous examples of monitoring and assessment, both in the workplace and with patients, and including the pertinent hard-and software components. The essential objectives of ambulatory assessment, which are covered in this volume include:

Recording of relevant data in natural settings -- Real-time measurement of behavioral and physiological changes -- Interactive real-time assessment by automatically

It will be of specific interest for those interested in psychology research and its practical applications (especially differential, clinical, and applied psychology), for psychophysiologicals, for ergonomics/human factors specialists, and f
